

Couples Treatment Room Refresh

Before

After

Project Overview

The couples treatment room began as an unfinished, uninspiring space that didn't reflect the serene, luxury atmosphere expected by spa guests. With a minimal budget ahead of a planned major renovation, the room was transformed into a warm, tranquil retreat.

Neutral tones, quilted linens, and simple layered lighting created an inviting ambiance, while modest shelving and décor added both function and style. This refresh proved that even with limited investment, a thoughtful redesign can elevate the guest experience and maintain five-star standards.
