

Treatment Villa Exterior Refresh

Before

After

Project Overview

The treatment villa exterior initially felt bare and unfinished, with limited greenery and little sense of retreat. This did not align with the spa's goal of creating a private sanctuary for guests.

With thoughtful updates and enhancements, the space now feels lush, inviting, and elevated. Strategic planting, stylish seating, and refreshed finishes transform the villa into a tranquil haven. The addition of greenery and curated furnishings enhances privacy while creating a sense of calm luxury.

This refresh demonstrates how a balance of simplicity, natural textures, and greenery can create an immersive wellness experience.
